

Professor Magnet's casebook is the most comprehensive and wide ranging work in the field. He covers not just the leading cases but also includes in-depth commentary and broader relevant materials such as government reports and expert commentary. Authored by one of Canada's leading constitutional scholars, the 9th edition is a primary source book for students, academics and lawyers alike.

PATRICK J. MONAHAN
Dean, Osgoode Hall Law School

This book by a leading teacher and scholar is an excellent, comprehensive text on constitutional law that incorporates relevant case law, scholarly doctrinal excerpts as well as explanatory research notes. It will have wide appeal as a text book for law students. Moreover, it provides a very useful reference for members of the legal profession.

HONOURABLE JUSTICE HERBERT MARX
Superior Court of Quebec

Professor Magnet's Constitutional Law of Canada has proven to be a great resource for courts and students alike. [It] brings admirable focus to some of the most difficult legal and policy issues that arise in constitutional law. This new 9th edition appears destined to become a staple of the classroom and the courtroom.

ANDREW K. LOKAN;
Paliare Roland Rosenberg Rothstein LLP and Osgoode Hall Law School

This is a rich and comprehensive source of Canadian constitutional legal materials. Thorough, and completely up to date, Professor Magnet's book is an invaluable research tool for practitioners, scholars and students alike. One may find not only answers to our fundamental constitutional questions, but also directions to test those issues not yet resolved by the courts.

HENRY S. BROWN, Q.C.
Senior Partner, Gowling Lafleur Henderson LLP

Juriliber